Brief Mention of Events of Interest Throughout the Known World.

The Shah's hotel bill in Brussels is $5,000 a day.

The American boy who won fame by scaling the wall at Pekin is a Salvation Army soldier.

State officials and prominent citizens of Nevada roundly denounce Stewart for his flop to McKinley.

Gov. Shaw has appointed Congressman J. P. Dolliver of Fort Dodge, United States senator from Iowa to succeed the late John Henry Gear.

It is reported that Russia is about to conclude an arrangement with the great insurance companies of the United States for a loan of 200,000,000 rubles (about $213,000,000).

Siegel, Cooper & Co., Chicago and New York, have decided to erect a mammoth building in London, England, to be used for a department store and conducted on the American plan.

A Shanghai dispatch repeats the report that the Japanese troops pursued the dowager empress and court, and overtook them 80 miles southwest of Pekin. The emperor, it is added, threw himself on the protection of his captors.

Omaha's census for 1900 shows a big decrease from that of 1890, the first case of the kind so far reported. The population of the Nebraska metropolis, according to the official count of the twelfth census, is 102,555. In 1890 the figures were 140,452.

A party of Americans employed in the construction of the Mexican Central railroad near Tlajomulo, on the Pacific coast extension, recently unearthed a big collection of prehistoric relics and an earthen jar containing $15,000 in old Spanish gold. The wealth was divided among the discoverers.

The census returns for Cleveland show that that city has passed Cincinnati and has become the first city of Ohio in population. It has a total of 381,768, while Cincinnati has 325,902. Columbus and Toledo change places, the latter becoming the third city in the state, while Columbus is relegated to fourth place.

A London cablegram says: Because the general manager of the Taffvale railway refuses to meet a representative of a labor union, not a pound of coal is moving at Cardiff, and 30,000 colliers are idle. Welsh steam coal has already touched record prices, and the admiralty only a few days ago was forced to pay exorbitant prices for 250,000 tons.

A number of benevolent people, inspired by the visit of 1,500 Cuban school teachers to New York, have organized a company and obtained a certificate of incorporation for a permanent Cuban training school. The idea is to afford an opportunity for young Cuban women to come to the United States and obtain the training necessary to qualify them as teachers.

Joseph B. Noble, father of the first polygamist child born after the introduction of that belief into the Mormon church, died recently near Salt Lake. He was more than 90 years old. Noble had six wives, who bore him 47 children. Of these 33 are living and 30 of them attended the funeral. There are 124 grand children and a number of great grand children.

The census bureau is making rapid progress in the counting and tabulation of the returns from the 32,000 enumerators who took the population of the country. Out of the 32,000 all but 600 of the reports are in. The returns from 18,000 enumeration districts have been counted by cards and the population of 14,000 of these districts have been tabulated in detail. Of the army of enumerators over 40,000 have had their accounts paid and closed.

At Georgetown, Ky., Aug. 22, the trial of Henry Yontsey, "Tallow Dick" Combs and Holland Whitaker, charged with the murder of William Gobel, and Capt. John W. Davis, charged with being an accessory, were continued until the October term, and by agreement of both sides bail was fixed at $3,000 each, except for Yontsey. The latter is suffering from an attack of typhoid malaria.

Dr. Alexander W. Evans, instructor in botany in Sheffield scientific school, Yale, has returned to his home at New Haven, Conn., after spending four weeks in Porto Rico studying mosses and lichens. Dr. Evans believes that the island will be a drawback to the United States and that the problem of managing the people and educating them is well nigh a hopeless task. There is now an exodus of Americans because business is found unprofitable.

Henry Gannett, the chief geographer of the United States geological survey, has just completed the measurements of the mountains of Alaska and has taken the altitude of 325 peaks within the limits of the territory. The highest is Mount McKinley, which rises 20,464 feet above the level of the sea and 2,440 feet above Mount St. Elias, which until now was supposed to be the highest peak in the United States, and is so given in the geographies.

Out of 75,531 exhibitors at the Paris exposition, 42,700, more than half the total received some sort of a prize. The French authorities, desirous to secure the good will of everybody, appressed all dissatisfactions, domestic and foreign, by scattering medals and diplomas with unheard-of generosity. The most important exhibitors are now protesting, claiming that the awards have been so cheapened as to be practically worthless.

In India the land of famine thousands die because they cannot obtain food. In America the land of plenty many suffer and die because they cannot digest the food they eat. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests what you eat. It instantly relieves and radically cures all stomach troubles. H. O. Hitchcock.

Cuban Scandal Suppressed.

It is, apparently, not the purpose of the administration to uncover the real condition of affairs in Cuba. The people are to remain in blissful ignorance until such time as the officials choose to enlighten them. And that time is not to be in the midst of a presidential campaign. Collusion between the republican members of the senatorial committee and the heads of the various departments in general and the war department in particular to stifle all investigation and suppress all facts is indicated by the present state of affairs. It is a condition which the honest and patriotic citizen, who has the good name of the United States at heart, is powerless to remedy. He can only protest. And the Post, in emphasizing the manner in which the Cuban investigation is being smothered, is voicing this protest, though with no hope of successful result. Millions of dollars, wrung from dependent Cubans, have been expended on all sorts of contracts and for all manner of things. Hundreds of thousands of dollars have been stolen. The public is entitled to see the figures, but the war department locks the books in its official vaults and laughs the people to scorn.—Washington Post (rep.).

Second City in the World.

Great town, New York! As the final figures of the official count give her a population of 3,437,202, there has been an increase in the inhabitants of the territory covered by the present limits of the city during the decade of no less than 944,611, or 37.90 per cent, which is a pretty lively growth. These figures leave New York the second city of the world, with much to spare, but still far behind London. The last census of the British metropolis shows that in London itself there are 4,633,018 inhabitants, while the dwellers in the metropolitan district number 6,650,000. Paris has a population of 2,676,968 and Berlin 1,787,631. There are various ways of accounting for the rapid growth of New York's population, and the most obvious deduction from the published figures is that the natural native increase is being exceeded by the tide of immigration. American families are not as large as they were formerly. Another thing that the figures reveal is that there is still a marked tendency on the part of the people to flock to the cities.

The House of Representatives.

The new census will cause a fresh discussion of the proper number of members of the United States house of representatives. Either the membership must be increased or the number of inhabitants who form the constituency of a representative must be increased. There are now in a full house 357 members, each representing an average of 173,000 people. Estimating the population by the new census at 78,000,000, the same basis of representation would make a house of about 450 members. So many could hardly be seated conveniently in the chamber without enlargement. Many of our statesmen think the house is now too numerous a body to transact business efficiently. Yet it has not so large a membership as the house of commons, 670 members; or the French chamber, 584 deputies; or the German reichstag, 397 members, all representing a much smaller population than the United States. But all these have a different method of transacting business than our lower house of congress, and their size is not so constant an obstacle to the accomplishment of business. Ex-Speaker Reed has urged that the size of the revenues be reduced, and the desks removed to convenient lobbies, where members could write letters and converse without disturbing those who were engaged in the business in hand.—Boston Herald.

A Minister's Good Work.

"I had a severe attack of bilious colic, got a bottle of Chamberlain's colic, cholera and diarrhoea remedy, took two doses and was entirely cured," says Rev. A. A. Power of Emporia, Kansas. "My neighbor across the street was sick for over a week, had two or three bottles of medicine from the doctor. He used them for three or four days without relief, then called in another doctor who treated him for some days and gave him no relief, so discharged him. I went over to see him the next morning. He said his bowels were in a terrible fix, that they had been running off so long that it was almost bloody flux. I asked him if he had tried Chamberlain's colic, cholera and diarrhoea remedy and he said, 'no.' I went home and brought him my bottle and gave him one dose; told him to take another dose in 15 or 20 minutes if he did not find relief, but he took no more and was entirely cured." For sale by H. O. Hitchcock.
